REMINDER ABOUT THE FEBRUARY MEETINGTHURSDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 6 PM

The speaker will be CAG Jay White, artist and proprietor of The Warehouse in West Columbia. He is a hard-working fella, fun, talented, just an all-around treasure. Check out the website for <https://www.thewarehousesc.com/> We look forward to hearing about his art and business journey.

Since 2017, The Warehouse has offered carefully selected consigned new, antique, and vintage furniture, home accessories, architectural salvage, and gifts. It is especially proud to show and sell a large selection of original art of over 100 local artists. We are honored to have been named Best Furniture Consignment and Best Antique Store by The State Newspaper, each year beginning in 2021.

Message from CAG President, Renea Eshleman

As I draft this message, we are captive at home with freezing stuff on all things, grateful for a warm, safe, comfortable environment. There needs to be art-making going on, but I've not yet found my motivation since the holidays. Soon, please...there are several shows and opportunities coming hard and fast. Guess what? You have to have art to enter!

We have several exciting things coming up this spring. Judy Sellers is coordinating space at Tartan Day South at the Columbia Speedway, 2001 Charleston Highway. We hope to participate at SOTA in a March 8 event in collaboration with a Jazz concert at the Art Lot (plein air painting anyone). We will keep you informed as plans develop.

The annual juried show at Still Hopes Episcopal Retirement Center is scheduled for April and May. The details will be developed and distributed to you soon. Thanks to CAG member Ed Shmunes for being an on-site representative of the Guild and serving on the Art Committee at Still Hopes. He's another jewel! Early reminder: the April meeting will be the reception for the show instead of a meeting at the Cayce Tennis and Fitness Center.

We still need your input for programs/presentations for the meetings. Send ideas to me or Trudy Dyer. Art practitioners, art business (what topics specifically). Do you prefer lectures or art-making demonstrations? Let us know!

Be well, safe, and make art.

Renea Eshleman

TARTAN DAY SOUTH – SATURDAY, MARCH 28

Cayce Arts Guild has been granted six spaces for tents at Tartan Day South. Five of the spaces are already reserved by folks who attended the January meeting. The event is March 28 at the Old Columbia Speedway, 1951 Charleston Highway.

This family-friendly event includes music (think bagpipes), dancing (think Scottish clogging), antique cars, arts, crafts, athletic events and competitions, sheep herding, traditional dress (think kilts), and all other things Celtic!

Vendors must set up their tents in assigned spaces the evening before, on Friday, March 27 then install their inventory for show and sale on Saturday morning. The Guild has three tents it can loan members. There are no participant fees for CAG members but there is a fee for parking. Contact Judy Sellers for details. (803) 361-2237 JudynWade@aol.com.

1 Ann Anrich presents at January CAG meeting. My apologies to Cynthia Kent for not getting photos of her and to both of them for not getting photos of their work.
